BROCHIER presents Cubica 2020

A collection dominated by colours and geometric shapes that alternate with delicate, Japanese-inspired designs.

November 4th 2019. BROCHIER's new collection plays with two worlds that are coordinated with each other through sophisticated colour references: the world of abstract Cubist-inspired geometries and the world of the Far East, with its stylized symbols and landscapes.

Among the velvets there is a false plain printed on cotton, offered in sixteen warm shades and a precious silk heddle velvet with a geometric/figurative pattern that creates a fascinating optical illusion.

The highlight of the collection is a beautiful cubist-inspired geometric jacquard that coordinates, through colour references, both with a Japanese-inspired floral-design jacquard and with the 100% yarn-dyed linen fabrics in striped or melange designs that are very durable and perfect for upholstery.

Great dramatic effect is created by the toile in viscose and polyester, which reproduces a Japanese garden using the chiné technique.

Outdoor fabrics complement the collection with a geometric pattern, a stripe and a tropical pattern with abstract elements, created on bases of three different weights for use as upholstery, cushions or decorative elements.

The colour palette ranges from blue to green, beige to brown, pink to purple, with a predominance of burgundy, mustard and rust.

BROCHIER will be presenting the new collection at PARIS DECO OFF, from 16th to 20th January 2020 at Galerie de l'Europe, 55 rue de Seine.
